Storm Toll To Rise In West Areas

Six States Dealt Heavy Blow, Four Deaths Are Listed

By The Associated Press
The choking fury of wind-driven snow subsided today on the high plains but parts of six states still were paralyzed by the still spring blizzard in 30 years or more.
Four deaths were attributed to the storm.
The three-day assault of snow and winds up to 80 miles an hour left fantastic drifts as high as 20 feet and stalled a dozen trains, many buses and hundreds of automobiles.

Search For Victims
Highway crews, National Guardsmen and Civil Air Patrol pilots intensified a search for storm victims in eastern Colorado, southwestern Nebraska, western Nebraska, western Kansas and the Texas and Oklahoma Panhandle areas. The fringe of the storm nipped the northeast corner of New Mexico.

Searchers believed they would find some dead in cars buried under mountainous drifts.
Estimates of stranded travelers in the six states ran as high as 7,500 but most of these had gained shelter when the swirling snow-blocked roads and rail lines.

Highway patrols estimated 1,600 stranded or marooned in Colorado, 1,200 in Kansas, 1,000 in Texas and 2,200 in New Mexico.
Two storm-caused deaths were counted in Nebraska, one each in Texas and Kansas.

Ranchers expected livestock losses to be huge.
The heavy, wet snow and powerful wind snapped power lines and poles, leaving many cities without power. Service was being restored slowly. Telephone service was available only where there were underground cables.

Brings Some Benefits
Besides the hardship, the storm brought much-needed moisture to the area. At Broken Bow, Neb., it was called a "90 per cent beneficial storm."

One of the most intense rescue efforts during the heights of the storm's fury was near Meade, Kan., where the Rock Island's eastbound Golden State Limited was stalled Saturday night with 200 passengers.

The howling wind covered the locomotive and four of the cars with snowdrifts and some passengers became ill of carbon monoxide fumes.
Nine snowplow crews, bolstered by farmers with tractors and horses, fought through drifts late yesterday and began removing the passengers to farm houses and to Meade, five miles away.

Eight Arrested In Racial Fight

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Eight persons have been ordered to appear in City Court as a result of flareups in front of the home of a Negro entertainer who recently brought into an all-white section.
Three men and three women, all white, were booked at city jail and released on their own recognizance on charges of disorderly conduct in front of the home of Frank Legree yesterday.

Whittaker Sworn In For High Court Post

WASHINGTON (INS)—Charles Evans Whittaker, 56, will be sworn in today as a Supreme Court justice.
Whittaker will take two oaths of office, the constitutional oath submitted by Chief Justice Earl Warren with only the other justices present, and the judicial oath, to be administered by Supreme Court Clerk John T. Fey after the court opens.

Bullet Pierces Irishman's Heart, But He's Still Alive

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Edward J. McDonald thought of his ward J. McDonald woke up on the operating table at St. Mary & Elizabeth Hospital. A Catholic priest was administering last rites.
"I thought it was all over," McDonald said.
But McDonald had the luck of the Irish with him, or, as he puts it, maybe St. Patrick was watching over him.
McDonald was shot through the heart on St. Patrick's Day. The wound closed behind the bullet. The 31-year-old Irishman is looking forward to having the lead removed from his back today.
In that brief interval of consciousness that might have been his

Nehru Urges Ike, Russian Leaders Talk

NEW DELHI (AP)—Indian Prime Minister Nehru proposed today that President Eisenhower and the Russian leaders meet "face to face" to tackle the problem of disarmament.

Eisenhower on Jan. 2 rejected a proposal by Soviet Premier Bulganin for a big-power summit conference on disarmament. The President said disarmament negotiations should be carried on "within the framework of the United Nations."

Russian and American disarmament proposals "thrown out from a distance" are not enough, Nehru said in opening a foreign policy debate in the lower house of Parliament.

"It is just possible" (that a meeting of Eisenhower and the Russian leaders) "might lead to something," the Indian leader declared.

"Nehru repeated his well-known opposition to military pacts—especially Baghdad and SEATO—but did not mention America's joining the military committee of the Baghdad Pact.

"Military pacts seem to operate on the theory that America or the Soviet Union must extend their influence into smaller countries," he declared.

"Instead of spreading the areas of military pacts, the way to peace lies in keeping hands off," the Premier said.

Dog Food Eaten By Five Persons Trapped By Snow

DODGE CITY, Kan. (AP)—Canned dog food and steamed wheat kernels provided the weekend menu for five snowbound Kansans.
It was their first food for 24 hours and was eaten after a doctor contacted by telephone assured them the supplies found in a grain elevator were the five of office, the constitutional oath submitted by Chief Justice Earl Warren with only the other justices present, and the judicial oath, to be administered by Supreme Court Clerk John T. Fey after the court opens.

Rain, Milder Weather Due

BALTIMORE (AP)—Five-day forecast: Occasional rain and rain or snow in northern portion, cool tonight. Occasional rain and cool Tuesday, clearing in afternoon and night. Cool Wednesday but with rising trend in afternoon and during rest of week. Rain expected about Friday or Saturday. Temperatures will average about normal while precipitation will range from one-quarter to one-half inch.

Nurse Terms Rich Widow 'Aggressive'

LONDON (AP)—The jury trying Dr. John Bodkin Adams for murder was told today the rich old lady he is accused of drugging to death climbed out of bed in a restless mood four days before she died.

Mrs. Brenda Doreen Hughes, one of the nurses who cared for 81-year-old Mrs. Edith Alice Morrell, testified as a star prosecution witness in the opening of the second week of the trial.

But under cross-examination she described the elderly woman as an "aggressive" patient and agreed with the defense contention injections of narcotics were intended to quiet her. Earlier she told Dr. Adams giving "special injections." She said she did not know their mixture.

"Have you ever before been requested to administer a mixture of heroin and morphia together?" asked the deputy prosecutor, Melford Stevenson.

"Not to my knowledge," replied the attractive red-haired nurse.

Jap Says 11,000 Yanks Have Left

TOKYO (AP)—Vice Minister of Defense Keiichi Masuhara told the Diet (Parliament) today that the U. S. Army has pulled 11,000 men out of Japan in the past year.
Masuhara said there had been almost no change in the strength of American Navy and Air Force personnel. He estimated the total U. S. force in Japan at about 90,000 men—50,000 Air Force, less than 10,000 Navy and more than 30,000 Army.

Ike Names Layton

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower sent to the Senate today the nomination of Caleb R. Layton III, to be U. S. District Judge for Delaware.

Strike Wave For Pay Hike Hits Britain

LONDON (AP)—The full force of a wave strike by 1,200,000 industrial workers hit Britain today as government mediators sought feverishly for a formula to keep the walkout from spreading.

Labor Minister Iain Macleod called in the owners of the affected plants in an attempt to persuade them to open secret talks with the unions. Unless there is a settlement, the unions threaten to call out a total of three million men in 4,300 factories by April 6.

The million-man first stage of the stoppage began at noon Saturday. The weekend holiday postponed the first serious production loss until today. Nearly 100,000 pickets were dispatched to strike lines in the 10 major industrial centers involved.

A strike by 200,000 shipyard employees, meanwhile, entered its 10th day with employers and union leaders engaged at last in face-to-face talks.

The shipyard and industrial workers, all represented by the same group of some 40 unions, are demanding a 10 per cent increase in wages that average $36.40 a week.

Most observers felt that a compromise 5 per cent hike would be agreed on eventually. This was the amount granted last week to 370,000 workers on the state-run railroads who also had asked 10 per cent.

College Janitor Stabbing Victim

HYATTSVILLE, Md. (AP)—Prince Georges County police today were investigating the death of George Greenleaf Craig, 51, of Bowie, a college janitor, who staggered into a Bowie hotel last night and died of a stab wound.

Hotel employees said they found a stab wound in his left chest. Craig, identified as a janitor at Bowie State Teachers College, was taken to Prince Georges General Hospital.

Wheat Futures Drop

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat futures opened as much as 1 1/2 cent lower on the Board of Trade today. Corn and oats showed little change, and soybeans mostly lower.

Secret Policy Seen Reached By 'Big 2'

Leaders Gain Solid Accord On Problems
Atomic Warheads Will Be Provided At British Bases

By ARTHUR GAVSHON
TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (AP)—President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan today were reported to have spelled out secret policy directives on key world issues in Europe, the Middle East and Asia aimed at pinning down the revitalized British-American partnership.

After the windup of the Big Two's four-day meeting, informants said a number of solid written understandings lay hidden behind the generalities of their joint 800-word communiqué.

In their 11-point statement, Eisenhower and Macmillan yesterday announced the United States will supply "certain guided missiles" to help hard-up Britain streamline its defenses in the atomic age.

They also offered to swap limited observer facilities with Russia at future nuclear weapon tests—tests which they promised to restrain to lessen the risks of causing genetic damage as a result of radioactive fallout.

Eisenhower also pledged U.S. cooperation with the military committee of the Baghdad Pact.
Eisenhower and Macmillan promised to support U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's quest for a settlement of the disputes with Egypt over the Gaza Strip, the Gulf of Aqaba and the Suez Canal.

Macmillan told a news conference the talks had been a "great success" because "we've reached a number of conclusions on some large issues. We've tied up a lot of points, and we've set in motion methods of better cooperation on questions still unresolved."

British Due To Get Atomic Warheads

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower intends to go as far as the law will allow in making atomic warheads for guided missiles accessible for British use in emergencies.

Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan reached a final "agreement in principle" during their talks at Bermuda that "certain guided missiles will be made available by the United States for use by British forces."

This was one of the major results of the conference, Eisenhower returned to Washington yesterday.

The British reportedly are to be the United States in the de-

Watchdog Gets Mixed Up After Four Pups Born

NEW YORK (AP)—A Brooklyn watchdog named Queenie is so rattled by motherhood she can't tell friend from foe.

Queenie, a German shepherd, and her four new pups remained as quiet as church mice as burglars rifled a cigarette machine in the restaurant operated by her master William Wise.

When a patrolman came to examine the scene of the crime, however, Queenie bit him on the ankle.

Suspect In Spy Ring Ends Life

BERN, Switzerland (AP)—Suspect that he spied against Egypt for France is blamed for the suicide of Atty. Gen. Rene Dubois.

The government announced that the 48-year-old official killed himself Saturday night in his attic with his army pistol.

Dubois got involved in a police probe of espionage at the Egyptian Embassy here. The government emphasized that there was no suggestion he had spied against Switzerland.

Quiz Witness' Wife Gets Phone Threat

SEATTLE (AP)—Police are conducting an investigation into a threatening telephone call received by the wife of a witness who testified last week before the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee in Washington.

Howard Sylvester, a Seattle insurance and public relations executive, said he has given police the name of an employee of the Teamsters Union whom he believes made the call.

Union officials were not available for comment.
Mrs. Sylvester told the police Saturday that the anonymous telephone call she received Thursday evening. That was the day her husband told the Senate committee headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) that the Teamsters spent nearly $600,000 in the fight to defeat a right-to-work initiative in Washington state last year. The initiative was snuffed under in last November's election.

Sylvester also told the committee the union owes him $10,000 for his work in the campaign and that an effort had been made to settle the bill for $1,800.

Mrs. Sylvester delayed telling police about the telephone call until her husband returned from Washington Saturday night. She said the caller told her: "I just want to tell Howard he is a phoney SOB and he'll be sorry he ever testified and I'll get even with him someday."

Sylvester said he is sure he knows the man and that he has no animosity toward him. "But," he added, "he had no business calling my wife and making threats."

Hunt For Transport Resumed Off Japan

TOKYO (AP)—Low clouds and driving rain over the Pacific southeast of Japan cleared partially this afternoon, permitting full-scale resumption of the search for a military transport plane missing with 67 Americans aboard.

U. S. Air Force officials said there still was no trace of the big double-decked C-97 which vanished before dawn Friday minutes from Tokyo.

Egypt's Boss Set To Give Concessions

Dag Resumes His Talks As Outlook On Gaza Clouded

CAIRO (AP)—A U.N. salvage team today raised the sunken tug Edgar Bonnet, the last obstacle to passage of 10,000-ton ships through the Suez Canal.

The 841-ton tug was to be towed away during the next several days but there was no official word yet when Egypt will open the 163-mile waterway to 10,000-ton ships, about 75 per cent of the canal's normal traffic before it was blocked during the invasion last fall.

The 1,461-ton Egyptian frigate Abukir still partially blocks the southern entrance to the canal, but the 10,000-tonners can skirt this obstacle, U. N. officials have said the Abukir should be cleared by April 10 and that the waterway will then be open to all ships that formerly used it.

Dag Mission Near End

U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's mission to Cairo meanwhile, neared its end amid indications Egypt would make some concessions on operation of the canal. But the outlook on the disputed Gaza Strip remained dark.

Hammarskjöld flew to the canal to watch the raising of the Bonnet from the bridge of the Dutch tug Atlas. Immediately after the raising, he returned to Cairo to meet again with President Nasser.

The Egyptian authorities announced today the canal is now open to ships of 4,000 tons. Previously, nothing larger than 2,500 tons could move through. Already a steady trickle of small ships is going through the waterway, paying tolls to Egypt's nationalized Suez Canal Authority.

The Egyptian Middle East News Agency said Hammarskjöld and President Nasser had reached an understanding on the future of the canal. A spokesman for the secretary general warned that the report should be "treated with caution." He said the U.N. official was in no position to make any formal agreement with Egypt since he was only the "bearer of good offices" and not a party to the canal dispute.

Unwilling To Sign Pact
At the same time, informed Arab sources said Egypt was unwilling to sign any pact keeping the U.N. Emergency Force on the demarcation line unless Israel agrees to stationing of UNEF troops on her side of the frontier.

Egypt is also demanding that Israel quit the El Ajia demilitarized zone, between the Egyptian Sinai Desert and Israel's Negev, as provided in the 1949 armistice. Israel is expected to refuse both Egyptian conditions.

Diplomatic sources believe Nasser may have convinced Hammarskjöld Egypt's still secret plan for operating the canal is consistent with the six principles endorsed by the U.N. Security Council last October.

These principles include unrestricted transit through the canal for ships of all nations, respect for Egypt's sovereignty, insulation of the canal from national

Famous Cherry Trees Begin To Bud In Capital

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Edward J. Kelly of the National Cherry Blossom Festival said today Washington's Japanese cherry trees are beginning to bud and should be in full bloom for the annual spring fête, April 2-7.

Kelly, who is superintendent of the National Capital Parks, said continued warm weather and "a few days of 70 degree temperature" will bring the trees to bloom on schedule.

The soil around the trees is more moist than in other recent years, he said, and this is conducive to early April blossoming.

Midget Helps Two Ex-Cons In Wave Of Safe Crackings

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—Two men admitted. He squeezed lice today blamed a three-month series of safe-crackings here on midget they used to gain access to buildings by slipping through small holes.
Officers said statements admitting the safe-crackings were signed last night by Charles Whittell Jr., 43-year-old, 3-foot-3 Poseyville farm youth, and two Evansville men, Charles Hale, 39, and Charles E. Bodell, 20.
Detective Sergeants Jess Julian and Jack Weber said the teen-age midget participated in 25 of the 40 safe-crackings which the

Easter Seals Sent In Mail

Approximately 23,450 letters announcing the thirteenth annual Easter Seal sale have been mailed to county residents, according to William R. Carscaden, campaign chairman.

Last year 23,753 letters with Easter Seals were mailed out by the Allegany County League for Crippled Children. Total receipts last year were $8,604.10. Of this amount $7,850.15 was attributed to the Easter Seals and the other $753.95 from the sale of paper Easter lilies by interested organizations.

As of this weekend $2,707.75 has been received by the League in response to the letters.

Funds raised from the campaign help to make up the League's budget which is in excess of $25,000 a year. This is League's only direct appeal for funds.

The campaign chairman explained in his letter that the active case load is 1,055 crippled children. During the past year 3,105 treatments were given by the speech therapist, 2,894 treatments by the physical therapist and 1,296 children were examined by the finest specialists in the country at the various clinics held throughout the year.

Other services included special clinics, hospital charges, new braces, repairs to old braces, corrective shoes and special medicines.

Yvonne, generally believed to be a French girl's name, is not that at all. It is the Hebrew name for "Grace of the Lord."

Hike In Sales Tax Opposed By Turnbull

BALTIMORE (AP) — State Sen. John Grason Turnbull (D-Baltimore County) says he is against proposals to boost the State sales tax in order to finance teacher pay raises.

Turnbull, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said yesterday "I don't believe the finance committee would ever pass out an increase in the sales tax or one reducing the tax base, with a favorable report."

"Personally, I don't want to touch the sales tax and won't tamper with the tax rate of base."

A proposal to raise the State sales tax from two to three cents on the dollar emerged Saturday from a House subcommittee considering the teacher pay raise bill.

The plan appeared to have drawn strong support among the delegates.

It was estimated that the sales tax increase would bring in an additional $21 million dollars a year.

However, Sen. Turnbull indicated that a small boost in the State income tax would be more agreeable to him. He also mentioned the possibility of accepting a portion for a tax on tobacco products.

Sen. Northrop (D-Montgomery) also said he thought a boost in the income tax would be more equitable than a raise in the sales tax.

Area Firemen Attend Fire Training Class

The regional fire school held at the Corriganville Fire Hall yesterday was attended by more than 200 Allegany and Garrett county volunteer firemen.

Cromwell C. Zembower of LaVale, who was chairman of the committee, said nearly all of the volunteer companies of the two counties took part in the work. Another several hundred firemen and spectators observed the latest fire fighting techniques.

Sponsored by the Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Firemen's Association, the school was supervised by members of the staff of the Fire Extension Service of the University of Maryland.

Robert C. Byrnes, director of the Fire Extension Service, was in charge of oil pit fires and explained to the volunteers how to combat such fires. The fighting of auto fires was in charge of Thomas Owens, while Robert Smith gave lectures on the use of gas masks in smoke-filled buildings.

James Robertson instructed the firemen on the proper use of small firefighting tools for forcible entry into burning buildings. Firemen were divided into four groups and attended classes of about one and a half hours duration.

In this manner the "students" received first hand information and practical experience. Zembower said about 1,000 gallons of fuel oil was used in the oil pit fires and auto fires.

In addition to the area volunteers there were firemen from Hancock as well as members of fire brigades of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant and the Amcelle plant of Celanese.

The day's activities were climaxed with the burning of a three-room bungalow.

A highlight of the afternoon was an unscheduled grass fire along Mt. Savage Road. Word was received by Fire Chief Harry Martz of Corriganville, and he quickly banded together a team of firemen who went to the scene and extinguished the flames.

Zembower said several firemen were "heat burned" slightly when a shift of wind carried heat from the flames toward the volunteers. In some of the demonstrations flames leaped into the air for about 50 feet.

Traffic in the area was handled by local auxiliary policemen, who "did a commendable job," said Zembower.

The association plans to have another school in the near future.

Needs Its Tail

The American jumping mouse can leap about 10 feet using its slender five-inch tail as a balance in flight. If one loses its tail by accident, a jump throws it into a series of somersaults, turning it over and over helplessly in the air.

Settlement Noted In Suit

Papers have been filed in Circuit Court in the settlement of a $7,000 damage suit arising out of a fatal highway accident August 24, 1956 on the Oldtown Road about seven miles east of this city.

The suit was brought by the State of Maryland for the use of Ella Jane Bean, widow, and Lilian Mae Bean Harden, mother of Jeannette Marie Bean, James E. Bean and William Harvey Bean, children of Jesse Ray Bean, 48, who was fatally hurt in the mishap.

Paul M. Cowgill Jr. and the Commercial Credit Corporation were named defendants in the suit. The declaration stated that Bean was a passenger in a truck operated by Albert H. Baker and a car operated by Cowgill struck the truck. Bean was thrown from the truck onto the highway and died from injuries received.

An order of court was signed by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris in the settlement for $5,000. Of this amount, Ella Jane Bean, widow, receives $4,500 and the balance is divided among the children. William R. Carscaden was counsel for the plaintiffs.

Parent-Child Units To Meet

A planning meeting on the parent-child study program in Allegany County will be held here tomorrow.

Attending will be Dr. Fred Thompson, of the Child Study Institute of the University of Maryland; Miss Dorothy W. Shires, state supervisor of pupil personnel, and members of the pupil personnel department of the county school system.

Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel for county schools, said there are 20 groups in the county with parent leadership under direction of his department.

This is the fourth year for the parent-child study program. Each year there have been one or two general workshops for the parents as well as three parent leader workshops during the four years.

Another of these general workshops will be conducted at West Side School from 10 a. m. until 3 p. m. Wednesday for parents from throughout the county.

All parents are invited to the workshop at which Dr. Thompson will serve as consultant. Between 125 and 150 parents are expected to attend. They will hear a full explanation of future plans for structuring of the parent-child study program in Allegany County.

Lunch will be served at the school for all workshop participants.

Judge Withholds Sentencing Four

Charges of breaking and entering a Junction (W. Va.) home against four juveniles of that area were taken under advisement Saturday by Judge H. M. Calhoun at a hearing in Hampshire County Juvenile Court, Romney.

The young quartet is said to have admitted having entered the residence of Carl Rinker, Junction, where they smashed a radio, broke dishes, kicked out a window pane and scattered things about the house. West Virginia State Trooper Charles E. Dorsey, who investigated, said the youths entered the dwelling by forcing a door.

Judge Calhoun indicated he would withhold judgment until he could confer with the Rinkers, who are in Florida, concerning the amount of damage done to the home and furnishings.

Anyone with a field vision under 19 degrees is legally blind, says the Better Vision Institute.

Unemployed Benefits Top Tax Payment

Unemployment benefits paid Allegany county workers for the years 1952-56 totaled $8,614,007.

The payments, according to Robert B. Kimble, chairman of the Employment Security Board, were $4,889,661 more than the $3,744,343 of unemployment compensation taxes paid by employers of the county.

The payments ranging from $5 to $30 a week or, with dependents' allowances from $14 to $38 a week, are financed by a tax on employers of not more than 2.7 per cent of payroll.

In the year ending June 30, 1952, taxes on employers totaled $945,360 and benefits paid were $1,744,944. Excess payments over taxes totaled $799,584.

The next year, unemployment taxes dropped to $803,715 and benefits to $1,163,688.

Unemployment taxes totaled $542,528 in 1951, but payments were at a peak of $3,202,299, and the excess payments above taxes totaled $2,659,771.

Improved business conditions dropped unemployment benefits to $1,750,100 in 1955. The payments were $1,106,480 more than was paid into the fund by employers.

Payments made to the unemployed of the county last year were at a five-year low of $863,576, only $30,456 more than the $833,120 of unemployment taxes paid by employers.

Old Friends in a New Light!

Let's assume you've known them for some time. And now—in the moment of a glance—you first behold them in the company of a Cadillac car.

There's just no question about it . . . something wonderful happens!

For the presence of a Cadillac car underscores—and most dramatically so—many of the things that enable you to think well of them.

It goes almost without saying that their Cadillac lends form and substance to whatever measure of achievement life may have brought them.

Certainly, it reveals their interest in the safety and well-being of their fellow passengers.

And, most assuredly, it evidences the wisdom with which they select their personal possessions.

Incidentally, you may have noticed, of late, that the Cadillac car has cast its revealing light on an ever-growing number of your own friends.

There is every reason why this should be so.

Its original cost is remarkably modest—and several models are, in fact, priced competitively with those of lesser makes.

Its operating economy is extraordinary—with a record of dependability and longevity that is without equal in the industry.

And its resale value stands at the very summit in used-car markets all across the land.

Certainly, this triumvirate of Cadillac economies deserves your personal investigation—and your dealer will be delighted to tell you the whole wonderful story at any time.

OUR COUNTRY
The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union forever.—Morris.

The Crossroads

AMERICA'S TWO major parties find themselves at something of a crossroads. They do not seem to know where to head next. Both are seeking two things at once—economy in government and the kind of big government which will give us an adequate defense and an expanding service and assistance in such domestic fields as housing and schools. Right now the stress among both Republicans and Democrats is on economy. They've got the axe out in Congress for the federal budget. Evidently, too, a large share of the American people support this drive. Yet most of these same people would insist that no risk be taken with the nation's defense. And they clearly want better schools, hospitals and highways.

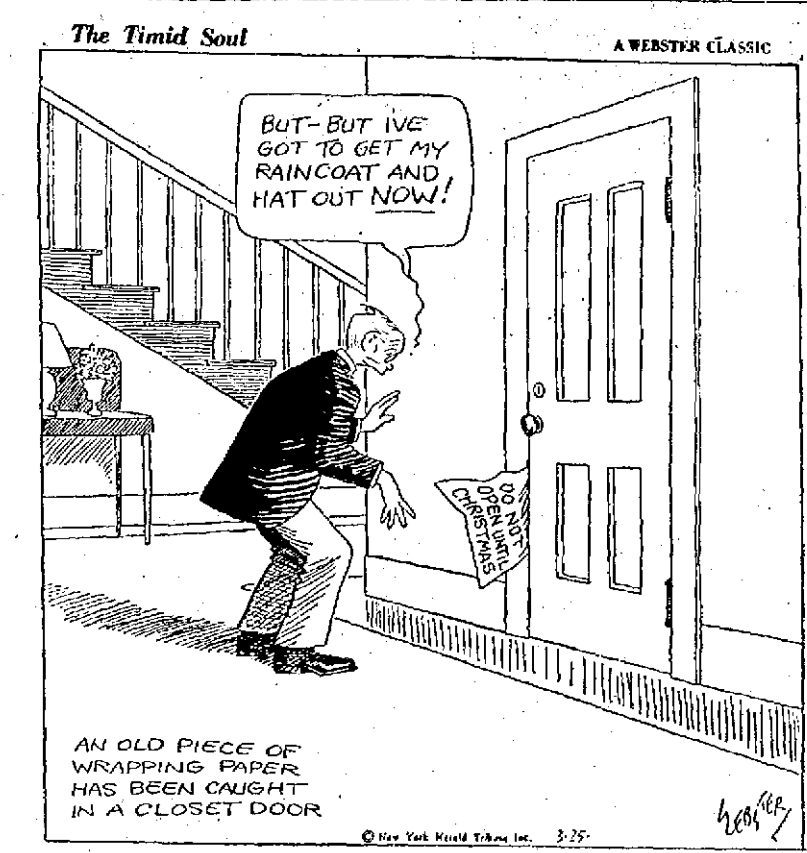

THE QUESTION is, of course, whether the two demands can be reconciled. Most lawmakers and many observers appear to think President Eisenhower simply threw up his hands at the dilemma. The legislators themselves talk thus far as if they intended to economize no matter what. Should they attain that goal, the cheers across the land will be hard and long. Nevertheless, many will think it fair to ask them: "How does this leave us on defense, on schools, on roads, etc.?" If the answer is not too well fixed, then voters who somehow want both goals realized will not be satisfied. A good many argue that the states and cities must take on a greater school load and other bigger burdens to keep the federal government from growing elephantine. Controversy surrounds the matter of state-city capacity to do the job. But if it should be agreed that the capacity exists, some still will contend that state and local governments don't show enough initiative in these important fields.

HERE'S WHERE the parties and their programs come in. If they want to economize and decentralize at the federal level, it would seem that redoubled effort is required at lower levels to meet expanding American needs. The parties aren't doing much about this. Some fear they're exhibiting a mood of default on this part of their dilemma. They're saying Washington shouldn't spend so much, but they aren't saying how certain widely desired things can be achieved with less federal spending. Both parties look pretty shaky, too, on the question of what the real effect of heavy economy would be on our defense posture. The Americans want, as they never did before, a tight budget. But they don't want Republicans and Democrats to abdicate the responsibility they have to assure a government at all levels that truly meets the people's needs.

Revolution

THE FORTIETH anniversary of the February Revolution in Russia has come and gone. After the Czar was overthrown, Russia, in Lenin's words, became "the freest country in the world." Despite the irony of that statement in retrospect, the lessons of that period should be re-studied. The time will come when the Russians will re-study their February Revolution which overthrew the Czars. Russian youth keeps pressuring to study more of the truth of history. The Russian leaders today must face sharper ideological challenges than they did in Stalin's time. Besides the challenge of the West, there is additionally that of Yugoslavia, which insists that there are different roads to socialism. The implications of this assertion are grave for the Russians. If there are separate roads then the Russian arguments for bloc politics and the Warsaw Pact might not sound too well. Also, the ferment in Poland has far from ended. Hungary was an exposure, too, of the ideological claims of the Russians. In such a situation, attention should be called to the February Revolution. For in it the Russian youth may yet find fresh inspiration, inspiration strengthening the desire and deepening the need to live in a society more free than Krushchev's vast dungeon.

SECRETARY of Labor Mitchell predicts that during the next eight years industry will have to hire more women and elderly persons whose services will be needed to fill jobs. He might also reasonably predict that in doing so industry will get some capable help that might otherwise have gone to waste.

Night Club Singer Doesn't Forget Home

NEW YORK — Miss Roberta Sherwood—the 43-year-old, size 18, spectacled and spectacular new success in the realm of nightclub singers—is sitting on a drab hotel sofa when you walk in to ask her how it feels to be famous.

After 16 years of children-raising and four years' nursing a sick husband, how does it feel to be a $2,500 a week celebrity? "Well, it's nice to be paying your bills," she says quietly, "and to get that feeling of security. Outside of that, nothing changes, thank God."

MISS SHERWOOD, who is currently establishing bright new records in the dim blue Copacabana Club, might easily be taken for an eighth grade civics teacher or lured to the wicked city on a dare. Except she doesn't talk like a teacher, or like a celebrity either.

"It's like all these housewives who write to me and say they're so glad I'm getting somewhere because it proves you don't have to be young and beautiful to get somewhere. They say they've had a talent all their lives, and maybe I've inspired them to use it."

Miss Sherwood smiles gently. "Well, honey, what I always tell them is when you can look at your children and you see you've raised a good citizen or a good wife or husband for somebody else's children, you've done enough."

"I guess I'm mainly a mother. And when you're used to being a mother," the rest of it is all second."

AT HER HOME in Biscayne Park, near Miami, Florida, Roberta's trio of sons—Donald Jr., 16, Jerry, 13, and Robert, 8—take care of themselves and their father, Don Lanning, who became a semi-invalid after a lung cancer operation four years ago.

Since her overnight fame a year ago, she has had to travel to sing at the fancier nightclubs—but never for more than six weeks at a time.

"You wonder all the time what they're doing," she says, "where they're going, what they're eating. I'm glad all this happened, sure I am, because I love to sing and we needed the money, but you get homesick."

AND WHEN she returns to Biscayne Park, she once again cooks all the meals, mends all the jeans, does all the housework, waits till Thursdays and gets all the supermarket "specials." She even does all the cooking for herself on a hot-plate in her New York hotel, between shows.

she never got beyond small Miami bistros. Since her "discovery" as a middle-aged matron who can belt a song better than the young chanteuses, many so-called experts have tried to glamorize her.

They suggest designer-made dresses, cut low, to dramatize her ample figure. "It's hard to resist at times," she admits, "but I don't believe in buying thousand-dollar dresses. If you get a thousand-dollar one this year, it's a two-thousand-dollar one next year, and I don't want to cultivate an appetite beyond my reach. I haven't done that—not ever. I buy my clothes here and there in stores, and I think I look neat enough."

A CURIOUS combination of frugality and generosity, Miss Sherwood always bundles up her baskets of flowers—sent her constantly by admirers—and takes them by taxi to a home for the indigent. Then she buys herself a half-dozen tulips on a street-corner, complaining, "You could almost go to Holland and pick 'em, the prices they want."

Her prize possession in her temporary home is a telegram, tacked neatly to the mantel, which reads: "With your talent and goodness and our love, you can't miss. Signed Your Four Men."

"See?" she says. "How I can't help but get home safe?"

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK — Within a few hours from the time this piece is being written, a new play by Tennessee Williams called "Orpheus Descending," concerned, as is customary, with Deep South people and their supposed addictions to sex and violence, crudity and bitterness, will have opened on Broadway.

This is in no sense a critical report on the play, but the play, from all reports of those who have seen it, is, once again, typical of Mr. Williams' digging around in unpleasant messes and stoutly holding that this is Life, the true, the best, the earnest Life. Maybe the word Art is mixed up in there somewhere, too.

IN ANY CASE, having recently said that as an amateur Southerner with deep affection for the entire area called the South I had never, under any circumstance, encountered Life there as Mr. Williams insists on depicting it, I have some fixed interest in this new work.

Also, having received a platoon of letters from the South upholding me in my contention that "Baby Doll" was not a reasonable facsimile of Southern life, I feel a need to go on with the matter.

DOWN IN Charleston, South Carolina, there is a fine, hard-working group called Footlight Players, Inc., and they have a publication. From their publication comes a good-natured but fanged editorial. This is it:

"We are thinking of setting up a special fund to send Oscar-winning, super-realist Director Ella Kazan on a complete tour of all the territory east of Texas and south of Pennsylvania. This burst of altruism rushed into flower as we were reading the Theater Section of the New York Times, where a prominent critic made a few enlightening remarks about the current controversy over the new Kazan film, 'Baby Doll.'"

"Mr. Kazan was quoted as saying that he made the picture 'to get on film what I feel in the South.'"

"This beautifully unequivocal explanation shook us so severely that we felt against a retort."

Hal Boyle
Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK — The only time Eva Bartok acts like a Hungarian actress is when people tell her in surprise, "Why, you don't act at all like a Hungarian actress."

That remark causes the slender, dark-eyed star, who was born in Budapest, to blow up a real temperamental storm. "One Hollywood writer said I was a very unusual Hungarian actress because I wasn't blonde, didn't mangle the English language, and was quiet," she fumed. "What did they expect me to do—break up all the studio furniture?"

MISS BARTOK, who twinkles brightly in the European celluloid sky, recently completed her first American film—an M.G.M. opus called "Ten Thousand Bedrooms" in which she stars with Dean Jagger.

"It is a nice clean comedy and has nothing to do with bedrooms," she said. All she did was act in the picture. Somebody else gave it the title.

MISS BARTOK, although she came here to make a single picture, has signed up for another, and is contemplating a TV series that will inevitably be known as "Forever Eva," and tell the story of a young Hungarian girl's struggles in this country.

Eva hopes that meanwhile she can clear up the misconception that Hungarians are a madcap, harum-scarum bunch of footloose Bohemians.

Asked to define the actual virtues and defects of Hungarians, Eva, who is now a British subject, said:

"People are individuals, and I hate to generalize. But most Hungarians are generous, talented, love foreigners, and have a good sense of humor. But because they have known long hardship their jokes are wry—it is a gallows humor. "On the bad side, Hungarians, particularly in Budapest, are inclined to be sophisticated and cynical and sometimes are a bit—how to you say it—two-faced? But this is because of Hungary's geographical position. They must say things that will please her neighbors on all sides."

Whang Bang Is Fleet Filly

WASHINGTON — There is this fast, little filly named Whang Bang, see, and until a couple of Teamsters Union moguls decide what she is worth, there'll be no more money changing hands between them.

I use the word, moguls, advisedly. Golly, I'm thinking about quitting this writing business and becoming an insurance broker. Or possibly a union organizer in a $180 suit, paid for by the membership and hence known as a union suit. That's where the money seems to be.

Consider George Newell, the Seattle insurance man. He collects $300,000 a year in commissions on the health and welfare business of the Teamsters. So he works closely with the president of the Western Conference of Teamsters, Frank W. Brewster, a horse fancier ever since the days he drove a dray.

IT WAS natural enough, you must admit, for Newell and Brewster to establish a racing stable, with 10 horses, including that plucky mare, Whang Bang. Newell put up the money for most of the nags. He also paid Brewster $5,000 a year for walking "em every morning before dawn."

Brewster, clad in a handsomely tailored gray outfit (which may or may not have been one of his union suits), told the investigating Senators about these details readily enough.

Pocket Money

ASK THE MAN on the street whether the United States ought to have the best possible ambassadors abroad, and his answer almost certainly would be, "Of course!"

What could be more obvious, in a complex and rapidly changing world, than that we need the best men we can get to represent us in foreign capitals?

Unfortunately, the test of "best man for the job" cannot be applied when it comes to choosing ambassadors for the most important posts. The reason for this is the costs of necessary entertainment by ambassadors in the major capitals are extremely high, and that the United States government simply does not provide enough money to meet these costs. As a result, the top diplomats must be selected only from among those who can afford to foot most of the bills from their own pocket.

Mary Haworth's Mail

Editor's Note: Reader wonders: motherhood only acceptable goal for women?

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: As one of your faithful readers, may I say something to the young wife who is panicky at the thought of having children — which seems to be her husband's next goal in life.

Just recently I had the privilege of hearing a talk given by a distinguished anthropologist, author and lecturer, before a convention of the Family Service Organization of America.

The speaker, Margaret Mead, raised the issue of the over-emphasis, in our culture, of child-rearing as the only socially acceptable goal in life for eligible young women. She feels that this emphasis is detrimental to the well being and progress of our society, as well as to many individuals.

Novel Idea: Is It Sound?

Dr. Mead emphasized that not every individual is capable of becoming a good parent, and that other worthwhile values and goals in living should be stressed by social leaders. She feels that our culture is in great need of other expressions of personality and ability.

Perhaps the young wife could be spared the feelings of guilty anxiety over her disinclination to bear children and have other avenues of self-development suggested for her.

I would appreciate your usual thoughtful comment on this novel idea, and its merits.—L.L.

Hard To Put Ideas Across

DEAR L. L.: From time to time I make talks too. And, on a few occasions, I have been interviewed. And generally it is an astonishing experience to read what the listener (the reporter or interviewer) says you said!

It makes you realize how difficult it is to really put your thoughts across by means of speech, since most people only "catch" that which they really know or have thought about. And it shows how much arduous concentration, and zeal for right reception of another's speech, are required of the listener—if he is to grasp, and accurately transmit, the sum and the gist and the personal logic of the speaker's comments.

It seems advisable to mention this by way of preface, before evaluating Dr. Mead's views as you "heard" them. Assuming, for purposes of discussion, that you have got her theory straight, I suppose the question in your mind is—do I agree that motherhood is over-emphasized as a cultural goal, in our society?

Children Give Health To Life

Well, it sometimes appears that sex satisfaction, per se, not necessarily related to parenthood, is perhaps the most over-emphasized social goal in our culture—if we may infer from the insistently sexy theme of books, plays, theatre entertainment, advertising copy, etc., that mirror the "dream life" of our times.

A startling fund of evidence to this effect is given in Piliavin Sorokin's new book "The American Sex Revolution" (Porter Sargent publisher). And on page 175, discussing the urgent need to turn from sex anarchy to sane sex order in our society, he writes:

"Statistics clearly show that marriages with children yield much lower rates of divorce, suicide and certain forms of morbidity than do childless marriages... In this age of divorce, mental disorders, suicide, insecurity and anxiety, the rapid replacement of the (fancied) fashionably childless marriage by those with children is one of the most effective remedies for these diseases..."

Lists Blessings Of Fruitful Union

"When married persons deeply interiorize the ideals and attitudes of total love... and when they are blessed with offspring, they live in fullness, joy, inner peace and good will towards other human beings and the whole cosmos," he adds. "Such lives are truly blessed. Such persons are builders of everything that is noble, and beautiful and true in the human universe."

Dr. Sorokin is director of the Research Center in Creative Altruism at Harvard University, where he is also (since 1930) professor in the department of sociology. As a student of mankind, his reflections carry equal weight with Dr. Mead's, perhaps.—M. H.

Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write her in care of The Evening Times. (King Features Syndicate)

Red Cross Sets Swimming Class

Starting April 9 a Red Cross swimming and water safety course will be held at Central YMCA each Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 7 to 9 p. m., according to Mrs. George Legge, executive secretary of local Red Cross Chapter.

Bruce May, a student at Frostburg State Teacher College and a registered Red Cross Water Safety instructor will conduct the class. May has been the water safety man and instructor at Shawnee Lake the past couple of summers and is certified by the Red Cross for Bedford County.

Mrs. Legge explained that in order to get the classes started here, it was necessary to have him certified by the area Red Cross for this county as well, and this certification arrived last week.

There have been many requests for a swimming class of this kind here, Mrs. Legge said, but a certified instructor who could conduct night classes had been difficult to locate.

Already, several people from as far away as Moorefield and Oakland have registered for the classes.

The course, for beginners and those who have had some swimming experience as well, is open to older teen-agers and adults. Registrations may be made at Central YMCA. Mrs. Legge explained that the Red Cross does not make a charge for the course, but the YMCA makes a nominal charge for use of the pool and facilities.

Lumber Sought For Library

Donations of lumber for shelving for the Bowman's Addition Library are being sought.

Rev. Elva Brotemarkle, pastor of the Assembly of God Church which owns the building, said the response recently to a plea for books was so great that shelving is needed to take care of them.

She's trying to round up enough odds and ends of lumber to build shelves for the 700 to 800 books, not including encyclopedias, which are now stacked up on tables.

How to keep rising prices from robbing your pay envelope

—save an extra nickel from every dollar!

Every time prices go up—your real pay goes down. And there's no need for living costs to keep rising. We can do a great deal to stop inflation—simply by saving an extra nickel out of every dollar.

One of the main causes of rising prices is overspending. So the extra nickel each of us saves will put a strong brake on inflation.

For this will produce billions of dollars in savings—money which is urgently needed to finance more factories, homes and schools.

And, of course, you get a personal bonus from your extra savings—the feeling of independence and security that a growing nest egg brings... the feeling that your house is in order.

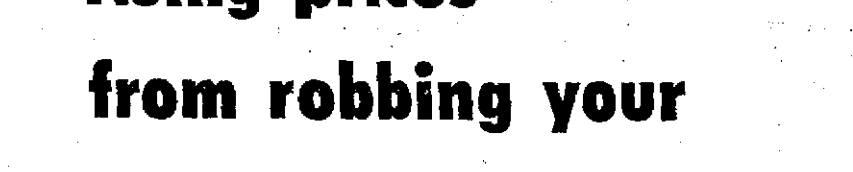

As a second step to fight inflation, all of us should support every reasonable move to reduce government spending—federal, state and local.

Sure, all this means a sacrifice. But isn't it worth it, if this means continuing our prosperity—and keeping it sound?

106 million policyholders have made life insurance America's most widely used form of thrift. In the interest of these policyholders—in the interest of all of us—the life insurance companies feel they have a duty to help preserve the purchasing power of the dollar.

Lonaconing Restaurant Sold Square Dance To Be Feature Of Maple Fete

By MRS. HELEN TROST, Times Correspondent

LONAICONING — "It will be nice to sit back and relax for a while," J. O. Marshall said last week as he ate his dinner in the Princess Pat Restaurant after completing the sale of the business.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall sold their long time business to Charles Connor, who recently returned from Germany after serving five years in the Army.

Marshall opened his first grocery and candy store opposite Central Elementary School in 1911 and continued there until the early 20's when the store was destroyed by fire.

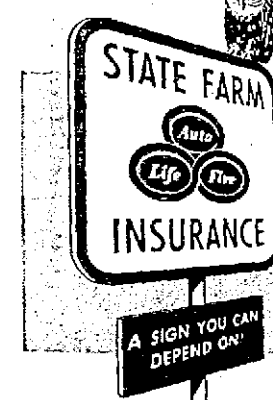

AL about that time Marshall started the first taxi service in the community. One outstanding use of the service, the writer remembers, was that on high school graduation night he hired his taxi to the school and was responsible for driving each graduate from his or her home, no matter how closed they lived to the school auditorium.

On November 21, 1926, the Princess Pat confectionery and restaurant was opened by Mr. and Mrs. Marshall, who have operated it ever since. He modeled the basement of the store which has an entrance to Union Street, and opened it to the younger set for dancing and parties.

A sports enthusiast, he several times organized youth baseball teams and backed contests for them in other towns in the county. He has always felt that if you promote enough activities for the younger set, there will be no time for mischief.

Back in the early 20's when the Central High girls basketball team won state titles it was Jim-

Contractors, Bankers Will Meet Tonight

MOOREFIELD—Electrical contractors, building contractors and representatives of local banks and other lending institutions will meet this evening at Hotel McNeill in another of the series of electrical contractor meetings sponsored by the Potomac Light and Power Company.

Tonight's meeting is the second in the past few months and is being held as a follow-up session to the November session when a number of programs were developed for presentation at later dates.

Since then representatives of the Potomac Light and Power Company, working with local electrical contractors, have been developing a certified wiring program which will be introduced to the public following this present series of meetings. This program is aimed at providing safe, adequate and efficient electric service for the customer. A certified wiring certificate will be issued to home owners whose dwellings meet the standards for certified wiring which will be put in final form during these meetings. During the meetings, representatives of the power company will discuss the various requirements for certified wiring and will present the numerous advertising and promotional literature and materials that have been developed for use in connection with the program.

One of the highlights of the program will be the showing of a kinescope of a close circuit telecast recently presented in connection with the "Live Better... Electrically" campaign.

Another feature of the program will be the presentation of a demonstration which illustrates the results of inadequate wiring. This same demonstration will be made available for presentation before local civic organizations and clubs and has been developed as a part of the certified wiring program.

G. E. Noll will preside at the meeting which is scheduled to get underway at 6:30 p. m.

Cub Pack 30 Gets Charter

FROSTBURG — Cub Pack 30, sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association of the Colleg Laboratory School, was presented its charter at a meeting at the college.

The charter was presented by Rev. Paul D. Caravatta and accepted by Rev. William D. Yingling, president of the PTA, on behalf of the pack. The charter was then turned over to Dr. Thomas V. Baucum, institutional representative.

A number of awards were made by Earl Richardson, club master of the pack. Wolf pins and gold arrow points were presented to John Columbus, Robert Blair and Larry Sigler. Bear badges were awarded to Charles Meehan, Thomas Baucum, Gary Joyce, Stuart Richardson, David Hummell and John Scott. Richardson and Hummell also received gold arrow points.

John Scott was given a "Denner Bar" for his assistance in managing the den and one year service pins were given to Thomas Baucum, Jerry Groves, David Hummell, Charles Meehan, Stewart Shaner and Stuart Richardson.

Two new Cubs were inducted into the pack, Paul Haberlein and Daniel Munson. They were presented their bobcat badges, neckerchiefs and slides.

An exhibit of Indian handicraft, all made by the Cubs, was shown at the meeting and all three den combined to present an Indian dance and skit in full Indian regalia. The meeting closed with the "Living Circle" ceremony and refreshments were served by a number of the parents.

Man Uses Jail Cell As Office

ROMNEY — A man serving an 11-month sentence in the Hampshire county jail has turned his cell into an office and has been doing "business as usual" from the local battle.

In a recent issue of "The Hampshire Review", the weekly paper published here, the following advertisement appeared: "FOR SALE — About 2000 feet of used lumber, some 2x4 and 2x6, cheap. Contact WILLARD COX at Romney Jail."

Cox is serving sentence on a motor vehicle violation.

According to Hampshire County Sheriff M. H. Holt, Cox sold the lumber soon after the ad appeared.

Man Suffers Fatal Attack; Car Crashes

ROMNEY — Walter Wright Maphis, 67, was found dead in his car early yesterday morning after he apparently suffered a fatal heart attack and the vehicle crashed head-on into the bridge across the South Branch at Blue Beach.

Maphis was returning home from Cumberland when he was stricken. The car swerved across Route 28, struck the left side of the bridge, and was demolished.

A. L. Russell, Hampshire county coroner, said Maphis was dead when the accident occurred. Trooper J. L. Martin of the State Police, said the accident happened about 5:15 a. m.

Maphis was a lifelong resident of Romney, and a son of the late William E. and Mattie (Stohley) Maphis.

He was a retired employee of the B&O Railroad and was a member of Romney Methodist Church.

Survivors include a son, Albert W. Maphis, Romney; a daughter, Mrs. Mary M. Swink, Dolson, Pa.; a sister, Mrs. Ezra Raley, Cumberland; a brother, James H. Maphis, Romney, and two grandchildren.

Services will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. in Romney Methodist Church by Rev. Dr. Vernon C. Culright, pastor. Burial will be in Indian Mound Cemetery.

The body is at the Shafter Funeral Home.

DELUXE! LOW PRICE! WESTINGHOUSE LAUNDROMAT

REVOLVING AGITATOR THAT PASSES THE SAND TEST!

The test: On "live" TV, 2 cups of sand representing heavy soil are dumped on towels in three well-known center-post agitator washers and in a Revolving Agitator Laundromat. After all complete their cycles, center-post machines leave towels and washers in a sandy mess. Laundromat leaves not a grain of sand in towels or washer.

HERE'S WHY THE LAUNDROMAT IS BEST...

Washes Cleaner! There's no old-fashioned center-post. Clothes go inside Revolving Agitator which lifts and plunges them 50 times a minute.

Rinses Better! Revolving Agitator lifts clothes while soil and dirty water drain away from them. Center-post machines strain it all back under the drain.

Cleans Better! Because of its patented design, the Laundromat cleans clothes, then cleans itself—automatically! All sand, suds, lint go down the drain.

Chayefsky Said Leading TV Dramatist

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP) — Although it's a couple of years since Paddy Chayefsky wrote a television drama, he is generally recognized as our leading TV dramatist. The reason is ironic.

Chayefsky has had greater success than other TV writers in transforming his television dramas into motion pictures and the theater. His "Marty" was both a prize-winning movie and a box office hit. His "Middle of the Night" was the first and, for a long time, the only TV property to make it as a play on Broadway. Trade publication reviews in advance of next month's opening of his TV-based movie, "Bachelor Party," are — as they say in the trade — raves.

Grand Jury Urges Housing Ordinance

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — The Washington County grand jury Saturday recommended a housing ordinance be drawn up for Hagerstown and Washington County.

The jury also asked the mayor and council to take action concerning the housing situation in the city. The grand jury said that the housing situation is a serious problem in the city and that the city should take action to improve it.

Hefty Theft

CHELSEA, Vt. (AP) — Clayton Hadlock Jr. of Lyme, N. H., was fined $75 in Municipal Court after pleading guilty to stealing two 24-foot steel bridge beams — and his working on my first original movie script, which is tentatively titled "The Goddess," and after that I'm going to do a movie adaptation of "Middle of the Night."

Stage Equipment Bought For Bruce Parole Granted Woman In Appeal

Bids for equipment for the auditorium at the new Bruce High School in Westernport were opened last week by county school officials.

The Knoxville Scenic Studios, Inc., of Knoxville, Tenn., offered to furnish and install stage curtains, stage rigging and window draperies for $10,235. This was the apparent low bid. The only other complete bid of $12,821 was submitted by L. Weiss & Sons, New York.

Youth Will Hear Dr. E. L. Martin

Rev. E. Lowell Martin will speak at a rally of Tri-State Youth for Christ at Allegany High School auditorium Saturday at 8 p. m.

This will be his first appearance in Cumberland. He has traveled through North Africa, Europe, Asia and Africa, and recently took a trip to the Holy Land. A resident of near Laysburg, Pa., Rev. Martin is pastor of a church in Ebensburg, Pa.

His church organist, Miss Katherine Ayers, will appear at the rally, which is open to the public. The doors will open at 7:15 p. m., according to Dwight J. Evans, director of Youth for Christ.

Can Fish For Lunch

Businessmen sportsmen find some of the nation's finest salmon fishing in Elliott Bay on Puget Sound, within sight of Seattle's midtown office buildings.

Americans planning to visit Turkey no longer are required to have visas.

Man Seeks Lost Sister

Clarence Whiteman, Headsville, W. Va., in 1905 or 1906 his parents, Isaac and Mattie (Fleck) Whiteman, separated. Clarence and three other children remained with the father. The mother moved to Frostburg, according to Whiteman. Soon after, the mother gave birth to a daughter.

The mother is presumed to have died, as the child was brought up by foster parents, Whiteman said. He said the members of his family have been trying to locate the sister to no avail. They understand she has married.

Whiteman said anyone having information about the missing sister should call him at Keyser 6061.

Salty, But Livable

Though Great Salt Lake, Utah, is 23 per cent salt, its waters still support a varied community of animal life, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Power Disrupted Following Crash

Electric power was disrupted last night 14 miles north of Bedford after an automobile careened from the highway and struck a utility pole.

State Police at Bedford said Joseph A. Decker Jr., 26, Tyrone, Pa., sustained a laceration of his forehead in the accident. Police said Decker's car apparently struck a rock on the highway, went out of control and hit the pole. No charges were preferred by police.

Local Woman Injured In Fall At Apartment

An 80-year-old woman was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital Saturday after sustaining injuries in a fall at her apartment.

Hospital attaches said Mrs. Bertha Frantz, 123 North Centre Street, was admitted with injuries to her right hip and complained of chest pain. She is reported in "fair" condition.

The American Bible Society is one of the 24 national Bible societies throughout the world.

Higgins Outlines School Program

Homer Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel, gave a talk on the building program of the Allegany county school system at a recent meeting of the Pennsylvania Avenue School Parent-Teacher Association.

He pointed out that through a census which was taken in 1954, careful study and a projected plan of building needs, Allegany County finds itself today in a very favorable position — a position which is envied by practically every other county in the state. Higgins added that the county is always studying, investigating and planning for the future so Allegany County students may always attend school under favorable housing conditions.

Officers elected for the coming year follow: President, Frank Byer; vice president, Kenneth Mahaney; treasurer, Edward Nield, and secretary, Miss Margaret Burkey.

A variety program was presented by the students of Pennsylvania Avenue School under the direction of Mrs. May Thomas, Miss Anita Dickens and Mrs. Sally Wheeler.

Frank Byer announced that a group of Fort Hill singers would provide the entertainment for the May meeting.

Refreshments were served by mothers of first grade pupils.

Red Cross Nears $25,000 In Drive

Cash and pledges to the Red Cross fund campaign passed $24,000 Saturday with full reports from the county branches to be received. The county quota is $27,000.

It is hoped to wind up the campaign by March 31. The quota of the various branches in the county totals $7,320.

Chairmen include Mrs. Rudolph Mendelsohn at Frostburg; Mayor Virgil Alexander, Lonaconing; Verl Ash, Midland; Grunt Wambaugh, Mt. Savage; Walter Stafford, Barton; Miss Bella Toney, Westernport; Luke and Mrs. Ferman Stafford, Ridgeley.

Mrs. G. W. Legge, executive secretary of the Allegany Co. chapter, pointed out that Willis Scott, who took charge of collections in the Vale Summit area, has surpassed his quota.

Vernall To Play In Pa. Collegiate Band

Raymond Vernall, 403 Avirell Avenue, a student in the music department at Indiana State Teachers College, will participate in the tenth annual Pennsylvania Collegiate Band festival at the college, March 28 to 30.

Centre Street PTA Hears Talk On Polio Vaccine

Dr. Leo H. Ley Jr. addressed the Centre Street PTA at a meeting last week on "Polio" and conducted a question and answer program on the Salk vaccine. He was introduced by Mrs. Harry Nixon, health chairman.

Mrs. John Oglebay opened the session by leading the flag salute and singing of "America the Beautiful". Mrs. Robert Webster presided at a short business session. Mrs. Earl Nonnenmann's sixth grade room won the attendance banner.

A play entitled "Alice in Wonderland's Land", directed by Mrs. Herman Bowman was presented. The cast included Mrs. Bowman, Mrs. Lillian Gifford and Jane Bowman. The history narrator was Thomas Wagner and fashion narrator, Mrs. Roma Preman. Mrs. Catherine Kirey modeled a costume of 1890 vintage. Mrs. William Shipley and Mrs. Irvin Elliott wore costumes of 1897, the year the Pore-Techer organization was founded.

Bathing suits of the period were modeled by Mrs. Floyd Meyers and Melvin Gifford. A 1910 dress was worn by Mrs. James Geatz, complete with "Merry Widow" hat and black parasol.

The hobble skirt and striped blazer era was depicted by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Webster. Mrs. Delphine Bucy modeled the black bloomer and middie blouse style worn by women gym instructors. The "flapper" models were worn by Mrs. Weldon Skiles, Mrs. Homer Robey and Miss Donna George.

Vickey Nixon entertained with a tap dance with Mrs. William Loar at the piano. Donna George danced a Charleston number and Robert Webster sang "For Me and My Gal". At the conclusion of the play Mrs. Bowman sang "The PTA Song". Mrs. Georgetta Gifford was accompanist for the program.

An acoustic for the candle lighting ceremony, directed by Mrs. Skiles concluded the program with Mrs. Gifford singing "Just One Little Candle". Taking part were Mrs. Nixon, Mrs. Oglebay, Mrs. Herbert Dawson, Mrs. Arthur Howard, Mrs. Harold Fisher, Mrs. Nellie Rice, Mrs. Delphine Bucy, Mrs. Margaret Buzzard, William Wilson, Mrs. William Simpson, and Mrs. Ruby Winnebrenner.

Thomas Wagner, principal, announced the school play, "Hansel and Gretel," will be presented April 3 and 4. School pictures will be taken on April 9. The next parent discussion group meeting will be held Tuesday, April 30.

The bake sale held prior to the meeting was in charge of the mothers of the third and fourth grade rooms.

The birthday cake, made by Mrs. Skiles was used for the candle lighting ceremony and refreshments were served by the committee Mrs. Paul Chorpenn and Mrs. John Shober Jr.

Truck Crash Takes Life Of Area Resident

Hampshire County Man Found Dead After Accident

A 53-year-old Hampshire county man was fatally injured in a one-vehicle crash last night near Points, W. Va.

Victim of the mishap was Jesse Theodore Saville, husband of Mrs. Mildred E. Saville, of Slanesville, W. Va., who was found dead in the wreckage.

Sgt. Robert Schnell of the West Virginia State Police detachment at Romney, said the man was killed when his pickup truck, overturned on County Route 3 near Points.

Sgt. Schnell said Saville was alone at the time, and apparently lost control of his vehicle in attempting to make a slight curve. The vehicle upset, throwing Saville out, and the truck landed on the victim, police said.

A. L. Russell, Hampshire county coroner, said death was due to a broken neck.

Sgt. Schnell said the County Route 3 is not heavily traveled, and the time of the accident is not known. Police have asked area residents who might have noticed the accident to supply information. It is estimated Saville had been dead several hours before a passing motorist noticed the wreck.

He was a son of Mrs. Lura (Saville) Snyder, of Slanesville, and the late James Saville.

Besides his widow and mother he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Leo Chillemi, Vienna, Va., and Carolyn Saville, at home; two sons, Lloyd Saville, Hyattsville, and Teddy Saville, Shepherdstown; two sisters, Mrs. Juanita Bloom, Winchester, and Mrs. Katherine McKee, Roanoke, Va.; five brothers, Roy Saville, Augusta; Frank Saville, Cleveland; Milton Saville, El Paso, Texas; Earl Saville, California, and Rev. Curtis Saville, Jane Lew, W. Va., and four grandchildren.

The body is at the McKee Funeral Home in Augusta and will be taken to the residence tomorrow afternoon. Services will be conducted Wednesday at 11 a. m. in the Salem Methodist Church by Rev. Layman Chambliss, pastor. Interment will be in the Salem Cemetery.

ALHAMBRA AIDS CHURCH—Sylvester A. Shireff (second from left) is shown presenting a check for $2,500 to Rev. Linus Robinson, pastor of St. Gabriel's Catholic Church of Barton. The money was raised at a spaghetti dinner in St. Mary's Church Hall here for the benefit of St. Gabriel's Church which was destroyed by fire last September. Father Robinson said this morning the check was the largest donation received so far in the drive to raise funds to erect a new church in Barton.

Joseph Divico (left) was general chairman of the dinner, sponsored by Wamba Caravan 89, Order of Alhambra. Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan (right) pastor of St. Mary's Church, looks on. Last year the local organization donated a $3,200 shrine of the Blessed Mother to St. Mary's Church.

Eight Persons Die In State Auto Mishaps

By The Associated Press

Eight persons died in Maryland highway accidents over the week-end bringing the State's traffic fatality count to 88 for 1957.

One of the victims died Sunday and the other seven—including four teenage boys whose car crashed into a tree in Baltimore County—were killed Friday.

The woman who died Sunday was Mrs. Leota Mae Stone, 37, of Brooklyn Park. She died in a Baltimore hospital after nine hours after her car collided with another car and crashed into a fire hydrant at Brooklyn Park. A passenger in her car, Mrs. Marie A. Joyce, 34, was seriously injured.

The four teenagers killed Friday were James Jackson, 17, and Robert Craig, 18, both of Owings Mills, and Martin Wesley, 15, and Chester Lee Joy, 15, both of Reisterstown.

Killed in other accidents Friday were: William Robert Jopp, 14, of Federalburg, struck while riding his bicycle on Maryland 318.

William Ernest Longstreth, 49, of Hallettsville, whose car collided with another auto west of Frostburg on U. S. 40.

Mrs. Mathilda A. Blaine, 73, of Cumberland, struck by a car while crossing a street.

Mrs. Lillian Nelf, 69, of 318 Cumberland Street, owner of the Post Card Shop on North Centre Street, died Saturday night in a Baltimore hospital.

Mrs. Nelf had been in ill health since she was injured in an automobile accident in 1954 in New York.

She had been in business in Cumberland the past 50 years, and had owned and operated the Post Card Shop since the death of her husband, Walter Nelf, in 1936.

She was born January 10, 1907, at Sharpsburg, a daughter of the late Charles F. and Zell (McDonald) Underdonk. Mrs. Nelf (Continued on Page 16)

On other matters, council approved appointment of Hazel Bropst as an aide in the Recreation Department senior citizen program. She was paid $1 an hour.

The J. H. Holzshy Company said it wished to buy city-owned lots on Laing, Montreal, Quebec avenues and Franks Lane for $4,385. But council instructed City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery to write the local real estate firm and inform it the city has an order on the books against the sale of lots which might be involved in the right-of-way for the Industrial Boulevard.

Maryland Day Observance Quiet Locally

Court Hears Bond Validity Arguments

Judge Henderson To Rule Soon In Case Affecting Frostburg

Arguments were heard today by Chief Judge George Henderson in Circuit Court on an equity suit brought by a resident of Frostburg to determine whether the community has the right to hold a special election on a $100,000 bond issue to acquire a site and contribute to the erection of a garment plant.

William S. Jenkins brought the "friendly" suit against the city and Board of Election Supervisors of Frostburg asking for a restraining order and injunction to prevent the election.

William C. Walsh presented the arguments for Jenkins while Edward J. Ryan, attorney for the city, presented Frostburg's case.

The hearing was held in order to determine the validity of a section of Frostburg's charter pertaining to such a bond issue.

Judge Henderson said he would make a decision in the case this week.

It has been proposed that the City of Frostburg acquire a site and contribute to the cost of erecting a plant for the Cumberland Undergarment Company in the community.

Before a bond issue can be sold there must be a legal opinion clearing the way for the sale.

Sewer Pipe Bids Identical

It's finally happened. Two firms submitted identical bids on a proposed city purchase.

The Mayor and Council opened two bids today on pipe for the Sewer Department. On each of the four different-sized pipe, the Cumberland Cement and Supply Company and Super Concrete Company submitted identical bids.

This prompted Street Commissioner William H. Buchholz to comment: "Well, I guess I'll have to roll the dice."

The bids were referred to the commissioner and City Attorney Thomas B. Finan.

Johnson Heights PTA asked that three or four policemen or Auxiliary Police be stationed at Oldtown Road, Louisiana Road and Hill Top Drive intersections to protect children from the increased traffic going to and from the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant.

Police Commissioner William V. Keegan said the department has recently added a policewoman and as soon as her uniform arrives, there will be another policewoman at Louisiana Avenue.

Signer Asks Name Taken Off Petition

Misunderstood Intent Of Bond Issue Move; John Duke Day Set

The Mayor and Council today filed, without comment, a letter from Bertram K. Lazarus, asking that his name be stricken from a petition being circulated here in favor of a referendum on the sale of a $500,000 bond issue by the city.

Lazarus, in a letter, said he had "misunderstood the intention" of the petition.

Petitions being circulated will require 20 per cent of the qualified voter signatures in order to bring the issue to a vote. Petitioners have 40 days from date of passage to submit the names to council. That would be April 6, a Saturday.

The issue was approved by council February 25.

John Duke Day

Council voted payment of $1,340 to Municipal Concert Band representing its expenses in connection with concerts and rehearsals for the quarter ending March 31, and $100 as membership dues in the U. S. Conference of Mayors.

Also approved was a $100 aid in the Police and Firemen's Welfare Association annual program booklet.

Checks were ordered issued to city employees Friday for the last two weeks of the month.

An invitation was received inviting council to "Showboat Jamboree" (featuring the Second U. S. Army Showmobile unit 5 at Fort Hill High School Wednesday at 8 p. m.)

Parking meter inspector Harry Whisner reported collections the week of March 17 were $793.90 compared to $770.05 the week of March 10, an increase of $23.85.

The Western Maryland Sports Car Club asked permission to hang a sign at Baltimore and Centre streets in connection with sports car races here May 20-21.

The request was granted under jurisdiction of the Police Department.

The water level at Lake Gordon is two inches above the crest of the spillway and at Lake Koon one inch above, according to a report from C. L. Brotemarkle, assistant superintendent of Evitts Creek Water Company.

Consumption for the week ending yesterday was 33,110,000 gallons compared to 31,500,000 the same period a year ago.

Police Commissioner William V. Keegan said the department has recently added a policewoman and as soon as her uniform arrives, there will be another policewoman at Louisiana Avenue.

A "rhubarb" over the taking of photographs marred the picture coverage of the West Virginia High School Basketball Tournament, which closed Saturday at Huntington.

Photographers were barred from using "raw" flash bulbs and were permitted to take photographs with natural light only at either end of the playing floor in Memorial Field House. Strobe flashes also were permitted from the sidelines.

The use of "strobe" or electronic flash equipment was permitted at the corners, which Maurice Kaplan, head of the Huntington Publishing Co. photographic department, said was too distant to "freeze" action under the baskets where the play was critical.

Kaplan said the order came from W. R. Fugitt, executive secretary of the Board of Appeals, in turn said he was following a unanimous resolution of the West Virginia High School Coaches Assn.

The coach of a player who missed a critical shot under the basket claimed he was blinded by the flash.

Sports writers in Huntington for the tournament conceded that the incident was true, but said the shot was taken by an amateur photographer "from a position where no professional photographer would work."

Sports Keg Residue

Being champions of the Atlantic Coast Conference, the undefeated North Carolina Tar Heels were the sentimental favorites of area fans in Saturday night's NCAA finals at Kansas City.

But probably no one was more elated over the Tar Heels' thrilling triple overtime win over second-ranked Kansas than Gene Shaw, the Allegany High game mentor.

An alumnus of North Carolina, Gene "burned the midnight oil" Saturday, standing by the Associated Press' sports teletype in the Sunday Times office to get a first-hand report on the glorious victory.

Incidentally, on Dec. 14, 1955 just after North Carolina's young team surprised by soundly whipping a strong Alabama team, 99-77, a usually blasé big-town writer opened his story with, "Mark North Carolina as next year's NCAA champions."

Who said sports writers are poor prognosticators? ... Paul "Bubbles" Thompson officially closed his brilliant football career at George Washington University Saturday by starring in a losing cause as his Alumni team dropped an 18-14 decision to the Varsity in a game climaxed by spring practice.

The former Beall High standout, who recently signed with the Washington Redskins, caught one touchdown pass and set up the Grads' other TD with a number of receptions.

"Bubbles," incidentally, has signed to play for the Martinsburg Chieftains in the South Mountain Baseball League.

An outfielder and pitcher, Thompson played for Zihlman in the Pen-Mar League the past two years.

In 1955, Thompson batted .370 and led the Pen-Mar in runs batted in with 32, while last year his plate average was .330.

Bill Virdon, hitting well over .300 in exhibition games, has been named by his Pittsburgh Pirates teammates as "most likely to win the National League batting title in '57."

The Pirate ace was second in the league's batting race last year. ... And still with the Bucs, catcher Hank Foiles reports from Fort Meyers, Fla., that if the regular season opened tomorrow, Bob Friend would be ready. "I've never seen him look sharper than he did his last time out," Foiles said of the Pirate pitching star.

Smooth-fielding Billy "The Kid" Mazeroski of the Bucs has a new fan in Kansas City manager Lou Boudreau. "He's got that same second baseman's flip when he gets rid of the ball that makes the difference between an ordinary fielder and a great one," commented Boudreau after watching Mazeroski in a game. "He reminds me of Joe Gordon and Charley Gehring," Lou added.

AAU Cage Event To Begin Today

DENVER (INS)—It's "show-down week" in amateur basketball as 26 of the nation's top AAU teams get set for the opening today here of the National AAU cage tournament.

The unheralded "dark horses" begin action this afternoon. Play opens at 2 o'clock with a game Westside Ford of Seattle and Sanitary Farm Dairies of Cedar Rapids, Ia.

Johnny Powers hit 39 home runs and scored 131 runs to lead the Southern Association in both departments in 1956.

Three Games Tonight Launch 'Y' Tourney

Clubs Shoot For Total Of Four Titles, 128 Awards

The last round up for basketball in the area starts tonight on the Central YMCA floor with the opening of the 11th-annual YMCA-Jaycee cage tourney. The

Tonight's Games

7:30—The Aces vs. Capital Bowling Alley (Juniata).
8:30—Wonder Bar vs. Windy City Five (Sevier).

event drew 27 quints in the four divisions with six of the clubs swinging into play tonight.

The quints will be shooting for a total of 61 trophies and 65 individual awards in the single-game elimination rounds.

As in the past most of the area's high school, college and independent stars are to participate in the contests. The tourney will last for eight days, four this week and four next week with the title games listed for Thursday, April 4.

The biggest entry list is in the Senior Unlimited with a dozen clubs joining for the title. Five entered the Junior Unlimited, six the 135-pound class and four the 115-pound setup.

Three teams representing the same sponsors from last March are back to keep titles. Lovers Leap Esso (115-pound), Walter's Texaco (135-pound) and S & S Lunch (Junior Unlimited) were winners in 1956. Poling's Market was the Senior Unlimited title but doesn't have an entry this time.

Starting tonight's three-game card will be the 135-pound meeting between Zion Evangelical and Don McTate's at 6:30. The Aces battle Capital Bowling Alley at 7:30 in the Junior Unlimited while Wonder Bar and Windy City Five tangle at 8:30 in the Senior class.

Three records were cracked last year in the junior and senior classifications, both in scoring. S & S Lunch registered 94 points to better by 10 tallies the mark of Sisk Service Station in 1954.

Poling's Market rattled the previous record by Yoder's Plumbers of 103 in 1954. Roger Maphis of Poling's also pumped in 108 points in the senior games to break the mark of Sports Shoppe's Jack Steiner (61) in 1950.

Three more games are carded tomorrow evening, a pair in the Senior Unlimited and one in the 135-pound division. Three will also be on tap Wednesday and three Thursday to end the first week.

Hosters of teams in action tonight follow:

135-LB. CLASS
DON McTATE'S—William Fair, manager; Carl Donald, Cliff Erickson, Coach; Bill Fair, Joe Broad, Ted Koch, Jerry Knoll, Dave Cook, Carroll Smith, John Winters, ZION EVANGELICAL, PROSBURG—Charles Krauss, manager; R. Kaufman, A. Kaufman, J. Israel, J. Lewis, Chapman, P. Rogers, R. Linn, S. Green, R. Lapp, B. Niles.
JUNIOR—UNLIMITED CLASS
THE ACES—Deloris Henry, manager; Dorell Henry, Coach; Campbell, Allen, Largent, Jack Lohman, John Ward, Noel Conley.
CAPITAL BOWLING
manager: Bob Wigger, Coach: Redwood, Mike Small, Pat Stewart, Ed Green, Ed Robinson, Dave Brown, Doc Tipton, Paul Conley, Joe Wrennery.
SENIOR—UNLIMITED CLASS
WINDY CITY FIVE—Douglas Sullivan, manager; Joe Walker, Bill McCall, Doug Sullivan, Jim Miller, Joe Carter, Jack Hanna, Jon Mann, Galen McGregor, Blinde Long, Lou Chichester.
WONDER BAR—Tom Buey, manager; Don Buey, Phil Ruchel, Archie Cunningham, Glen Wilson, Lee Cover, Joe Nelson, Dick Clay, Jack Eckhardt, Carl Phillips, Frank Nettles.

Women's Basket Tourney Begins Tomorrow Night

With eight teams entered, the fifth-annual Women's Invitational basketball tourney, sponsored by the City Rec Department, has been extended to four days. The opening two games are slated tomorrow evening on the Fort Hill boys' court.

Ursuline Academy, defending champion, meets Ridgeley Hawkettes in the half at 7 o'clock, while Royale Dairy Maids oppose McGee's Service Station an hour later. Two other quarter-final tilts are set for Wednesday playing at 7 p. m. VFW and Wilson Hardware clash at 8 o'clock.

In the semi-finals Wednesday, the winner of the Ridgeley-Ursuline contest meets the victor in the VFW-Wilson Hardware tilt at 7 o'clock. The Royale Dairy McGee's winner takes on the St. Mary's Toy Shop victor at 8 o'clock.

The finals are listed for Friday night at 8 o'clock with no consolation games scheduled. The games are open to the public.

A total of 20 awards will be given with players on the championship sextet and the runner-up to receive individual prizes while six will be given to the All-tourney club. Another will be given to the outstanding player eliminated in the first round and the last for the sportsmanship prize.

The committee on awards is comprised of Freda Miller, Henrietta Snyder and Helen Winebrenner. Joe Ann Eckard and Cleo Rice are in charge of the officials.

TRAGEDY ON A TURN—Bon Goldich, 33, Chicago, lies on ground beside his overturned Arnold-Bristol sports car as ambulance attendants bring up stretcher following a crack-up in first hour of 12-hour Grand Prix of Endurance Saturday at Sebring, Fla., air terminal. Goldich, father of two young sons, was fatally injured when he apparently drove into a double-S turn too fast, went into a four-wheel slide and rolled over in the dirt. He suffered a skull fracture. It was the first fatality in seven-year history of the Sebring sports car event. At far right is Dr. A. J. Mickin, Cumberland, Md., chief medical director of the race, who pronounced Goldich dead at 1:27 p. m., about a half hour after the crackup. #### Orioles May Reveal Star In Robinson

By JERRY LISKA

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (U)—The Baltimore Orioles, who have patiently plodded along with shopworn material, may come up this season with a bright, fresh star, 19-year-old third baseman Brooks Robinson.

Robinson unquestionably has stolen the show in the Orioles' spring training camp as a kid destined for big league greatness.

His fielding right now measures up to major league standards. Some call him "Mr. Octopus," in the Marty Marion class.

Kell Booster, Tutor

All this had to do to win the Oriole third base job from one of the game's best, George Kell, is to keep up his present batting form. Kell has been his constant booster and tutor.

Manager Paul Richards is giving Robinson, a former Little Rock, Ark., American Legion star, every opportunity to prove he can stick with the Orioles.

And Robinson has responded by batting .348 with 15 hits in 43 trips and driving across six runs.

Robinson's manager at San Antonio last season, Joe Schultz, said the youngster has the "baseball brains" of a player 27 or 28 years old.

Batted .272 Last Year

Robinson, who broke in with York (Pa.) with a .331 average in 1955, batted .272 for San Antonio last year.

"I got a poor start last season with San Antonio," Robinson explained today. "I was hitting under .250 by mid-June and then I started connecting at about .300."

"Nobody knows any better than I do that I have a chance to break in with the Orioles if I can carry my weight at the plate. I was up with the club at the tail end of last season and the year before. I've got some idea of what this major league pitching is all about. And I've got a lot more confidence after a season in the Texas League."

Liked Richards

Robinson was pursued by both the Orioles and the Cincinnati Redlegs after graduation from Little Rock's Central High School, where, incidentally, no baseball was played.

"I signed with the Orioles because I liked Paul Richards as a manager and always had a preference for the American League," Robinson said.

Robinson recalled that his father, a former star softball player, "worked with me from the time I was big enough to throw a ball and swing a bat."

Even Miranda's Dog, Parakeet In Need Of Visa

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (U)—Willie Miranda, fined $1,000 for the dubious honor of being major league baseball's longest holdout, says visa trouble was behind his reporting to the Baltimore Orioles 25 days late.

The Cuban told newsmen: "I got a wife and four kids and a dog and a parakeet, and we all had to get visas. Then we had to get a chauffeur to drive us from Miami to Baltimore and out here, and he had visa trouble."

"And then they had the revolution down here, and everybody had visa trouble."

"The 29-year-old Miranda was fined, and simultaneously signed, here yesterday. It was Baltimore's first player fine since the Orioles succeeded the St. Louis Browns in the American League three years ago."

The Baltimore front office said it intends to make the fine stick as an example to other players. Willie thinks differently.

"Nobody likes to lose $1,000," he grumbled. "But you will see. I have a good year and make (General Manager) Paul Richards give me the money back."

Turner Faces Isaac Logart

By International News Service

Gil Turner, a ring-worn veteran at 26, launches an all-out campaign to raise his stature in the welterweight ranks Friday night when he meets Cuba's Isaac Logart in the television fight of the week.

The much-televised Turner, who has fought some of the outstanding welter and middleweights in his career, has decided to stick to the welterweight class from now on. The Philadelphia-made decision earlier this month.

The ten-round bout between fourth-ranking Logart and Turner, at Madison Square Garden (N.Y.C.) actually is a return match. Logart beat Gil in a ten-round decision on Oct. 21, 1955.

Turner's record shows 52 wins, 14 losses and one draw. He has won 35 fights via knockouts. Logart, who decided Yama Balamia in his last start on Feb. 1, has a record of 49 wins, six losses and four draws. He has scored 19 kayos.

Middleweights occupy the screen in Wednesday night's ten-rounder (ABC) from Kansas City. Joey Giardello of Philadelphia meets Willie Vaughn of Hollywood, Calif. The veteran Giardello has a 65-13-5 record while Vaughn is 31-6-4 and is called the California middleweight champ.

The week's activity opens tonight (Sat) when Angelo DeFendis of Brooklyn, fights Yvon Durelle of Canada in a ten-round light-heavyweight bout at St. Nicholas Arena.

Bucs Ship Eddie 'O,' Keep Twin Johnny

FORT MYERS, Fla. (INS)—Baseball's O'Brien twins are separated today for the first time.

Eddie O'Brien, who joined the Pittsburgh Pirates with his twin brother in 1951 as a bonus player under Branch Rickey, has been optioned to Hollywood. Johnny O'Brien stays with the Bucs as relief pitcher and utility infielder.

Dressen Says Nats Better Than In '56

ORLANDO, Fla. (U)—Charlie Dressen, the fine little manager who used to win pennants in Brooklyn but now struggles to stay out of last place with Washington, is as glib as ever. The only trouble is he doesn't have much to talk about these days.

"We're better than we were last year," was the way Dressen began as he was asked about his Senators. "Well, I think we are anyway."

Charlie said it as if he hoped it was true.

Pitching Premising

"I think we can win more games," he said, "but I don't know if we can improve our position."

"We're starting off with the resemblance of a major league team with promising pitching, a potential home run hitting star in Jim Lemon, three real good catchers, a sound Eddie Yost who was handicapped all last year with infected lunis, and a confident Roy Sievers who should hit 30 home runs."

"Last year we went with 21 players the last three months of the season. We had injuries and when we tried to bring up several fellows from our Louisville farm we found we couldn't have them. This year we'll have 25. We've got Ted Abernathy, Dick Lyde and Bud Byerly to help our pitching. Jose Valdivielso will be better at short. Jose was underweight a year ago. He is 15 pounds heavier this spring. Young Herb Plews just started clicking as a second baseman when he was hurt last July. The boy will live up to his potential this summer."

Bill Lajoie Goes To Montreal Club

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (U)—Baltimore has optioned Bill Lajoie, one of its most promising prospects in the farm system, to Montreal of the International League.

The Montreal park's short right field should be well suited to the left-handed pull hitter. If Lajoie can play regularly this year he could easily break into the Oriole lineup next year, but he faces possible Army induction before this year's over.

Baltimore lost an exhibition game to Chicago yesterday 8-2 as the Cubs capitalized on three misuses by second baseman Wayne Causey and shortstop Jim Brideweser.

"Right now our biggest problem is finding a center fielder," said Dressen. "If we can find one who can hit and catch the ball, if we can plug the shortstop hole and if a few of our kid pitchers come through, we'll be all right."

Sons and daughters of Adios won more than $1,000,000 during 1956. It was a record for a harness racing station.

Al Purpur, caretaker and ice maker at the University of North Dakota winter sports arena, has been at the school 20 years.

Chisox Weak In Two Spots, Claims Lopez

TAMPA, Fla. (INS)—Al Lopez, affectionately known as "The Senator," took stocks of the Chicago White Sox today and from where the Sox manager sat, he was far from pleased.

"I doubt if we'll have many new faces breaking into the lineup this year but we're better in some spots than we figured to be when spring training started," he said.

An interested spectator stuck his head over the Sox dugout and asked Lopez:

"Would you care to say whether they have looked better than you thought they would, or worse than you thought they would?"

"Better," answered Lopez, but he added:

"I am not going to go out on a limb. We're still pretty weak at first and at third and we could use another starting pitcher."

No Chance For Trade

Lopez said there doesn't seem to be much of a chance for a trade. He explained:

"Even if you talk with a club about a first baseman that might help you and isn't being used by them, they'll ask for (Minnie) Miñoso right away."

From what Lopez said, he was happy about the first base situation. He said:

"I don't want to use any names, but three of them, by nature, aren't going to live up to the infield much, if at all. One of the others, to be a real help, would have to be able to bat fourth for us and drive in a stack of runs. So far, we haven't seen anybody doing that, have we?"

Lopez, of course, was referring to big Wal Drogo as the man whom he hoped could bat in all those runs. His other first base candidates are Norman Larker, Ron Jackson and Jim Marshall.

Could Solve Situation

"The Senator" suddenly turned to his questioner and said:

"You know, I do have one player, however, who could solve the situation and it is in an indirect way. The way Jim Landis is playing and hitting, I could move him into the outfield and put Jim (Jungle Jim) Rivera on first base and see just what he can do."

"First time, I ever saw Rivera play he was a first baseman. He's willing to make a go of it. That's not surprising, because there's no one in baseball with a greater urge to play ball and play every day than Jungle."

Lopez summed up the situation:

"If I decide to put Rivera at first and he fits in with Foxie (Nelson Fox) at second, Luis (Aparicio) at short and (Bubba) Phillips at third, it might not be the most flawless infield that ever got into baseball, but I'll guarantee you it would be the noisiest."

Boudreau Convinced Yanks Didn't Short-Change A's

By International News Service

Manager Lou Boudreau finally has some proof that his Kansas City A's haven't been short-changed in their trades with the world champion New York Yankees.

Boudreau and K. C. president Arnold Johnson have been arguing rather vainly that they were not "taken" by the Yankee traders but yesterday the A's received some new debating material.

Tom Morgan and Tom Gorman, two Yankee castoffs, combined on a brilliant one-hit pitching effort in which the A's blanked the Washington Senators, 4 to 0, at West Palm Beach. Eddie Yost got the lone hit—a single off Morgan.

Yanks Not Hurt

But the Yankees haven't been hurt in the trades either. Two ex-A's, Art Dillmar and Bobby Shantz, collaborated in a smooth mound effort that gave the Yankees a 14-0 win over the Brooklyn Dodgers at Miami. The Yank win came without Mickey Mantle, who hurt his ankle in pre-game practice.

Other recently traded hurlers also were very much in the news.

Sad Sam Jones, the ex-Cub who led the National League in winning walks last season, went the first seven innings and got the decision in St. Louis' 1-0-0 win over the Milwaukee Braves. Jones didn't issue a pass and scored the only run himself. Rookie Juan Pizarro got the loss although he pitched very effectively.

Pirates Beat Phils

Jim Hearn, a former member of the New York Giants, lost one for his new Philadelphia team. The Phillies were beaten by the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5 to 3, and the Buccos scored all their runs off Hearn. Ron Kline picked up the win.

Billy Pierce, crack southpaw of the Chicago White Sox, led the Pale Hose in an easy 3-0-1 win over the Cincinnati Redlegs. Dave Philley hit a three-run homer in the first inning off Hal Jeffcoat.

Another brilliant lefty, Herb Score, was the winning pitcher in Cleveland's 4-to-3 victory over the New York Giants at Las Vegas. Dick Littlefield was tagged with the loss when Vic Wertz slugged him for a three-run round-tripper. The Giants managed only three hits and one was a Willie Mays homer off Score.

Moe Drabowski pitched six scoreless innings as the Chicago Cubs belted the Baltimore Orioles, 8 to 2, at Scottsdale, Ariz. In other games, Detroit defeated Toronto's International League entry, 15 to 3, and the Boston Red Sox were extended to 10 innings before stopping San Francisco of the Pacific Coast League, 5 to 4.

Three of this week's 19 games will count in the conference standings. They send Furman to Richmond on Friday and to William & Mary for a Saturday twin bill.

Mickey Mantle has a lifetime batting mark of .308.

North Carolina, Bradley To Remain Hoop Powers

NCAA, NIT Kings Lose Player Each Next Season

By FRED DE LUCA

NEW YORK (INS) — North Carolina and Bradley, the champions of basketball's major post-season tournaments, undoubtedly will be hoop powerhouses against next year.

The Tar Heels and the Braves lost only one man through graduation this year and the poise and confidence the teams gained in winning the NCAA and NIT titles, respectively, can be expected to make them even more dangerous opponents in the next basketball season.

North Carolina loses a key player — All-American Lennie Rosenbluth — from its current squad which set a new college record by winning 32 games in an undefeated season. The last victory was the toughest — a triple overtime 54-53 win over Kansas for the NCAA title.

Bradley will not get back Gene Morse but the rest of the 12-man varsity is composed of eight juniors and three sophomores. To make matters more ominous for Bradley's opponents, the Braves' freshman team had a 15-and-0 record this year.

For that matter, Kansas is certain to be a court power for at least the next two years. The Jayhawks' fabulous seven-foot center, Will (The Still) Chamberlain, is now a sophomore.

The NCAA title game was a dream contest pitting top-ranked North Carolina against second-ranked Kansas.

Although the odds makers figured Kansas as the favorite for the title game, the International News Service rankings which listed North Carolina and Kansas as 1-2 proved correct. . . but only after three overtime periods.

Kansas was leading 53-52 in the last overtime when Joe Quigg of North Carolina was fouled with six seconds to play.

Blocks Pass To Will
The 6-9 center from Brooklyn calmly sank two foul shots for a 54-53 victory and blocked a subsequent attempted pass-in to Chamberlain.

The huge Kansas center was named the most valuable player of the tourney, which was marked by a tussle between Chamberlain and Pete Brennan and a heated exchange between coaches Dick Harp of Kansas and Frank McGuire of North Carolina. The latter said an unidentified Kansas punched him in the stomach.

Win Wilfong was named the NIT's most valuable player after his Memphis state Tigers lost an 84-83 heartbreaker to Bradley. Shellie McMillon's basket and converted foul with 30 seconds to play won for Bradley.

The pulsating finishes to the two tourneys closed out a basketball season that was filled with surprises.

Kansas was top-ranked in the early weeks of the season but lost that spot to North Carolina after being upset by Iowa State.

Kentucky, meanwhile, continued its mastery of the Southeastern Conference only to be crushed in the NCAA regionals by Michigan State, which won ten straight hoop contests to take the Big Ten title.

San Francisco, 1955-56 NCAA champs, rallied after a poor mid-season to finish strong and beat California in the Far West regionals. Jim Krebs and Southern Methodist led a resurgence of basketball power in the Southwest.

St. Louis won the Missouri Valley title when Bradley cooled off in February, but the Billikens were quickly eliminated in the NCAA as were West Virginia's Southern Conference champs. Northeastern basketball had a poor year with Canisius being perhaps the only outstanding team in the area.

New Orleans Cops Biddy Cage Crown

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (INS) — North Carolina has its NCAA champion Tar Heels and Bradley has its NIT-winning Braves but New Orleans has something it values more — the team that won the sixth annual International Biddie basketball tournament.

The New Orleans entry defeated Atlantic City, 45 to 42, Saturday to cop the tourney. Peoria (Ill.) won third place by stopping Gary (Ind.), 40 to 37, in overtime while Huntington (W.Va.) won the consolation round over Wichita, 51 to 31.

Green, Gola Pace
Dix To Army Title

FT. MONMOUTH, N. J. (INS) — A powerful First Army team from Ft. Dix led by Si Green and Tom Gola, won the All-Army basketball championship Saturday with a 72-57 win over the Presidio, Sixth Army, San Francisco.

Utilizing a fast break with Green and Gola in the front court, Ft. Dix forged to the lead in the third period on a three-point combination by guard John Sheehy of Cornell and kept ahead of The Presidio for the remainder of the game.

"CUMBERLAND DAY" AT SCOTTSDALE — The workouts and exhibition games of the Baltimore Orioles at their Scottsdale, Ariz., camp have been well attended by former area residents. The cameraman caught Norm Gerdeeman, Evening Times "special correspondent," snapping the shot of these familiar faces

Mantle Ankle Sprain Causes Casey Worry

By MARTIN MURPHY

MIAMI (INS) — Manager Casey Stengel was worried today that Mickey Mantle's "severe" ankle sprain would delay the slugger's training program and prevent the New York Yankees from making a fast start in the American League pennant race.

The hard-hitting Yankee center fielder hurt his ankle yesterday when he stepped into an outfield hole chasing a flyball during pregame practice.

For most players, it would have been considered just another minor spring training hurt that would clear up with a few days rest. But for Mantle, with his injury-prone legs, the ailment was no small problem.

X-Rays Prove Negative

X-rays were quickly taken but proved negative. Dr. Sidney Gaynor, Yankee physician who examined the American League's most valuable player, said "these things usually heal quickly. He may be able to run on it in five days or so."

But it will be a week or ten days before the Commerce Cloutier will be able to plunge back seriously into the spring training grind.

Stengel, who works as hard now after seven pennants in eight years as he did when he came to the Yanks in 1949, is justifiably concerned about the injury and the practice Mantle is missing.

He knows that a hitter's success is a matter of precise timing and he knows the timing comes with plain hard work in the batting cage and in exhibition games.

Vital Cog For Yanks

Mantle is a vital cog in the Yankee pennant machine. With Mantle losing time, Stengel fears that his club may not be ready any too soon.

"Everybody says we are going to win the pennant again," growled Stengel after the injury. "But nobody has handed me any written guarantee and, in this business, things happen."

Stengel probably will not move Mantle along too quickly even when the 25-year-old Triple Crown winner is ready to run again.

Mantle plays with an elastic tape for support around his right knee. Should he return too soon, and thus favor the left foot, further injury could result.

Mantle's legs always have been his weak point.

He has an arrested case of osteomyelitis in the left shin and his right knee was operated on after he tore ligaments in a fall during the 1951 World Series.

In every spring training camp since then he has had chronic leg and knee ailments.

'Bird Builder' Richards Claims Managers Differ

This is another in a series of spring training camp stories by Norm Gerdeeman, former local baseball star and minor league manager, who is covering major league teams working out in the Far West. Gerdeeman now resides in Lake Tahoe, Nev., where he is employed by Wagon Wheel Casino.

By NORM GERDEEMAN

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (Special to The Times) — Before Paul Richards addressed himself to making the Baltimore Orioles forget a flawlessly horrible past as the St. Louis Browns, he would have been acclaimed, in any election, as the owner of the best-known young managerial mind in baseball. But now — well, people are not so sure that Paul, who combines the jobs of Orioles manager and general manager, is really a cross between Einstein and Charley Van Duren.

Paul authored a deep master work on strategy a couple of years ago. This impresses the cynics not one bit. Why, they want to know, can't the guy impose the Orioles with the same sort of zest with which he once inflamed the Chicago White Sox against the Yankees? Because, they reply to their own question, Richards doesn't have the material he had with the White Sox. And the next step is a triumphant conclusion that the idea of great managers is a lot of baloney and it's only the players who count.

Managers Differ
We asked Paul, as a demoted genius, just what he thought of this business of managers versus material and the subject of good managers versus bad. "It's idiotic to think that there's no difference between managers," he replied sharply. "If the material is even, the managers will make a helluva lot of difference in where the clubs finish. If one manager is loaded with material and another one has very little, the standing won't be affected much even though the second guy is better."

"No, a good manager can't beat a bad manager when the good manager's material is only 10 per cent of the bad manager's. But, in spite of the talk that it's all the material and the manager is unimportant, there's the difference of night and day between managers." Richards reminds me of a lot of my former high school coach at Allegany. Bill Bowers was noted for his outstanding basketball teams, but I always held him as a great teacher of our national sport. He certainly taught me plenty.

"I find that there's always something more to be learned about managing a ball club," says Richards. "I haven't seen or heard of the manager yet who hasn't room to improve himself in how to handle a team."

Building Farm System
The fact is that Richards has progressed in two seasons as a fashioner of Oriole destiny. His club dropped like a sink into sev-

Celtics Look To St. Louis After Sweep

BOSTON (INS) — The rampaging Boston Celtics — blessed with the greatest rookie tandem in National Basketball Assn. history — today eyed favorably the prospect of meeting St. Louis in the playoff finals.

With its pressure-loving first year men Bill Russell and Tommy Heinsohn in key roles, the Celts defeated Syracuse 83-80 yesterday for a three-game sweep of their semifinal series.

It marked another first for the Boston club.

The Celtics, already possessing the Eastern Division crown for the first time, now prepare to make their debut in the playoff finals.

For the sweep, Heinsohn led the scoring with 61 points while Russell hauled in 84 rebounds.

After St. Louis edged Minneapolis 105-104 yesterday on Bob Pettit's 11 points in the final five minutes to take a commanding 2-0 lead in the best-of-five series, the Celts were happy.

The Hawks will play at Minneapolis tonight in the third game of the Western Division semifinal. Boston holds a 7-2 margin over St. Louis in regular season play and the losses were by one and two points.

The Hawks won the Western Division despite playing below .500 ball (31-38). From a won-lost standpoint, St. Louis is the fifth best club in an eight team league.

Thompson Fined $150 For Missing Exhibition

LOS ANGELES (INS) — Manager Bill Rigney of the New York Giants today announced he had fined Henry Thompson $150 for the 31-year-old infielder's failure to appear for the Giants' game with the Cleveland Indians in San Diego Friday night.

"Thompson's excuse was not acceptable to me," Rigney said. "This fine will stick. His money will not be refunded."

Possibilities In Giants Seen By Durocher

PHOENIX, Ariz. (INS) — Leo Durocher, ex-manager of the New York Giants, said today the club has "potential."

"With Andre Rodgers at shortstop and Ossie Virgil at third base the team has possibilities," said Durocher, who took his first look at the Giants yesterday.

But he is not sold on the pitching, outside Johnny Antonelli.

"But Alan Worthington might be able to change the picture there," he observed. "He's big and strong but never seems to be able to live up to his potential."

FORT MYERS, Fla. (INS) — Manager Bobby Bragan of the Pittsburgh Pirates is concerned about the depth of his pitching staff.

Bragan says he can count on Bob Friend, Ronnie Kline and Vernon Law as starters and Hoy Face for relief.

"I only wish our pitching was as solid as some of our other departments," Bragan said.

Kline worked six innings yesterday and was given credit for the Pirates' 5-3 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies. It was the Pirates' third straight victory over the Phils.

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (INS) — Moe Drabowsky, 21-year-old bonus pitcher, went six innings in an 8-2 victory over Baltimore yesterday for the most impressive Cub pitching feat of the season.

Moe blanked the Orioles on three hits, walked and one man, struck out two and pitched two double play balls.

The Cubs were also headed for their first shutout and first errorless game of the 14 they've played but shortstop Eric Kruk had throw in the ninth inning ended both possibilities. Banks is still favoring a sore arm which has kept him out of action much of the training season.

At the opening tip-off, McGuire put his shortest man, five-foot 11-inch Tommy Kearns against Chamberlain and placed the rest of his squad under the Kansas goal.

Rosey Fouts Out
North Carolina's chances were shackled with four fouls apiece. Rosenbluth fouled out with six minutes remaining in regular play, but Quigg stayed through the record three overtimes and won the contest with his two free throws in the last six seconds.

Chamberlain was the only unanimous choice on the all-tourney team selected by 50,193.

Every inning in which the Phils got a man on base except the ninth, the Pirates came up with a double play.

SUN VALLEY, Ida. (INS) — Austrian ski wizard Toni Sailer was the proud possessor of the Harriman cup today after sweeping the 17th-annual running of the ski classic at Sun Valley.

The 22-year-old plumber and triple Olympic gold medal winner swept through the slalom runs yesterday with a total time of 1:55.5. He won the downhill Saturday to give him a perfect 0.00 F.I.S. point total.

Under F.I.S. (Federation International de Ski) rules, zero is the highest possible score.

Enderl Mollerer of Austria and former Austrian Olympic ace Christian Pravda, now an instructor at Sun Valley, tied for second place in the slalom with total times of 1:56.

Best American entry was Bud Werner of Steamboat Springs, Colo., who came in fourth in the slalom with 1:58.8 time, but was 22nd in the combined.

AL BALDING GRABS Top Miami Beach Prize

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (INS) — Al Balding of Toronto, Ont., won the $7,500 36-hole Miami Beach Invitational golf tournament yesterday with a 36-hole total of 137.

Baldwin, whose top share of the prize money was $1,200, shot a 69 in the final round to gain a one stroke edge over Chick Herbert of Northville, Mich., who received $800 for finishing second.

McGuire's Strategy Cited For Success Of Tar Heels

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (INS) — North Carolina's triple overtime 54 to 53 win over Kansas in the National Collegiate Athletic Association finals will not soon be forgotten by some 10,000 fans who jammed the Auditorium in Kansas City Saturday night.

The game, heralded as a "national" from the start, matched not only the nation's two top teams, as recorded in the final poll by the International News Service, but pitted All-Americans Will (The Still) Chamberlain of Kansas against Lennie Rosenbluth of North Carolina.

Chamberlain, a 19-year-old seven-foot sophomore, was named the outstanding player of the tourney, edging out Rosenbluth a senior, 17 to 15.

McGuire Slows Down Play
But it was Frank McGuire's strategy more than anything which brought the Tar Heels their 32nd straight win.

North Carolina played, what coaches are calling, "basketball of old." They kept the game slowed down throughout and maintained possession of the ball about 70 per cent of the time.

This strategy in the first quarter, brought the Tar Heels a 12-point lead at one time and forced the run-happy Jayhawks out of their zone defense into man-to-man play.

In the first half, the Tar Heels, shooting only when the chances were good, hit on better than 80 per cent of their tries while the Jayhawks were sinking only six of 22.

At the opening tip-off, McGuire put his shortest man, five-foot 11-inch Tommy Kearns against Chamberlain and placed the rest of his squad under the Kansas goal.

Rosey Fouts Out
North Carolina's chances were shackled with four fouls apiece. Rosenbluth fouled out with six minutes remaining in regular play, but Quigg stayed through the record three overtimes and won the contest with his two free throws in the last six seconds.

Chamberlain was the only unanimous choice on the all-tourney team selected by 50,193.

ALL-SPORTS DINNER AT VALLEY SELLOUT
The All-Sports dinner to honor the Valley High state Class B basketball champions and the WMU soccer titlists is a sellout with all 250 reservations taken. The dinner will be in the school cafeteria Wednesday, 6:30 p.m., and is sponsored by the Valley High School Boosters Club. H. A. "Bud" Millikan, University of Maryland basketball coach, will be speaker at the affair.

The award will be prepared and served by the members of the school cafeteria.

An appropriately named 2-year-old at Hialeah is Greentree Stable's Prank. He was sired by Tom Fool, horse of the year in 1933.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

BOSTON (INS)—The judge who sentenced the Brink's robbery to 2 majorities. Some critics of the jury system charge that lawyers can sway juries by playing on their emotions, but Judge Forte thinks it Superior Court Judge Felix seldom happens. He commented on the "certainly," an attorney will jury system who claim it is too play on the emotions of a jury or expensive and an unnecessary occasion, but when the jurors sit down to talk it over they will come up with the right decision. The judge said he was concerned about the expenses involved in the operation of the jury system and suggested it might be possible to cut down the number of jurors in the jury pool. He said he might work for a reduction in the number of challenges without cause allowed.

The veteran jurist made it clear that he is aware that the jury system is not perfect. He admitted the system is expensive and that a jury will go wrong "once in a while."

"Jurors have pet peeves and there are occasional instances of corruption," he said. "The human element is inherent in each side or a case, noting there were 262 peremptory challenges by the defense in the trial of the Brink's robbery gang."

"If the state had tried the Brink's defendants on all the indictments returned by the Grand Jury we might not have a jury yet," he said.

Without naming any specific cases, Judge Forte admitted he had disagreed with jury verdicts only to be convinced in later conversations with the jurors that he was wrong.

Judge Forte said he liked the present system of unanimity of verdicts which assures deliberation, but he appeared interested in the movement to have ver-
